Community Engagement Charter

- Transparency: The city's decision-making processes will be open and clear to the public and the city will actively encourage and facilitate citizen and stakeholder participation in them.
- So let's look at parking

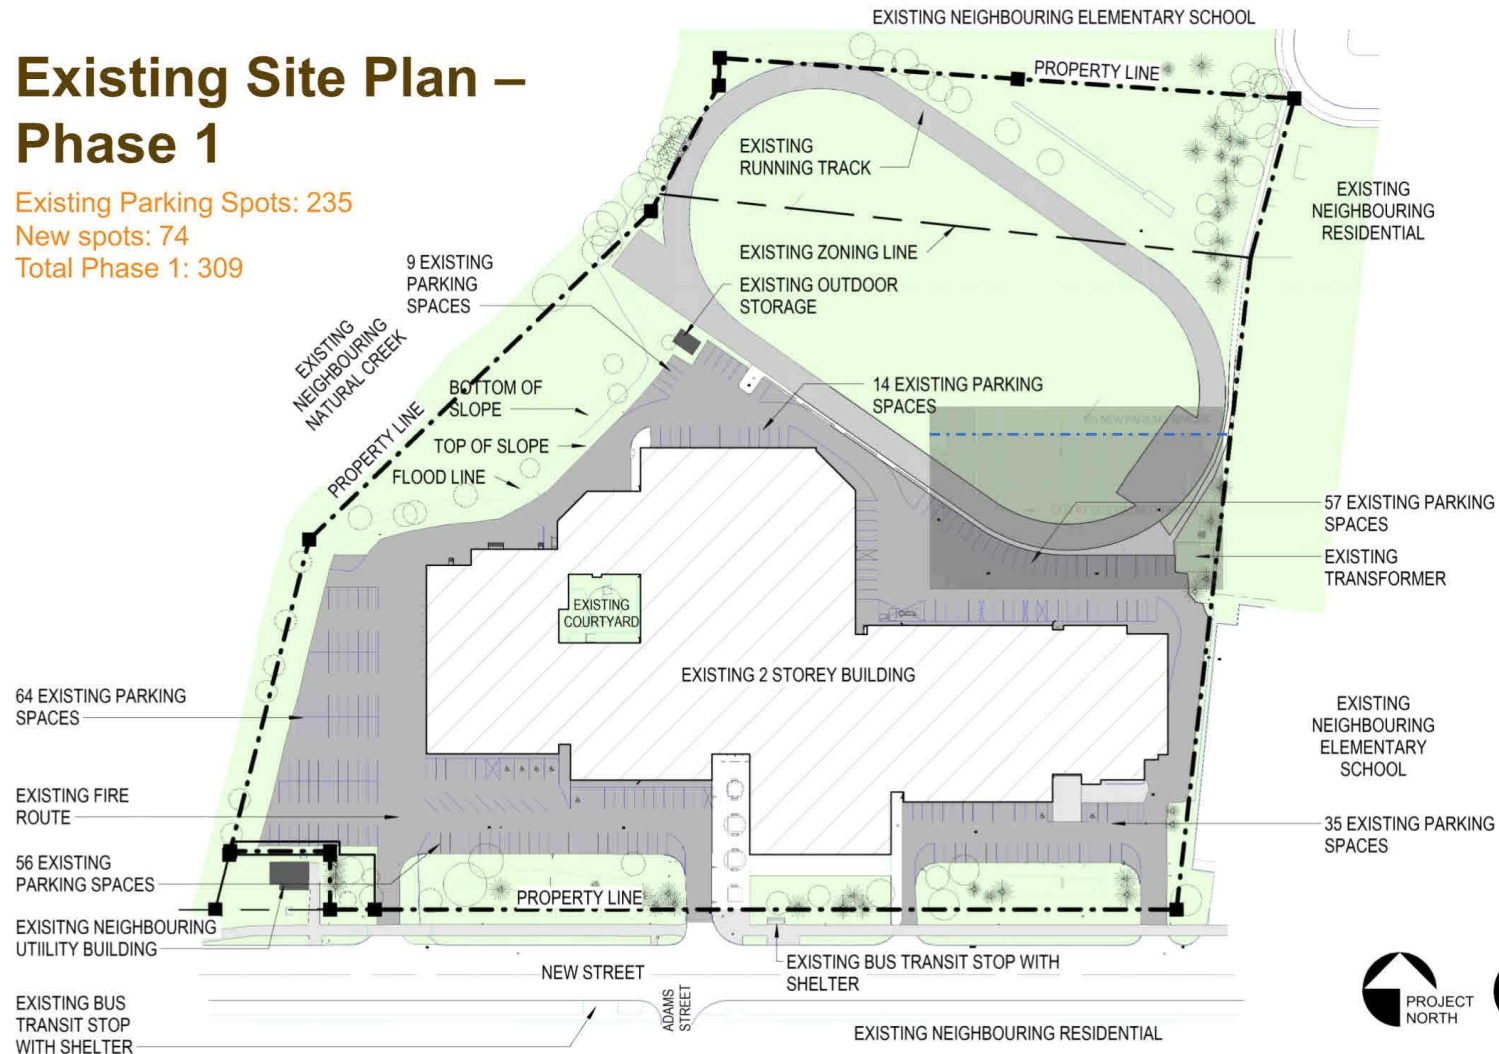

Public Meeting May 31 2022.

- Question: Where does everyone park?
- Ron Stieginga: There is enough parking for the main tenants right now.
- Allan Magi: What we have known at this point in time are the uses that we have identified here this evening and to meet those needs we have sufficient parking supply on site.

Presentation December 8, 2022

Existing Site Plan – Phase 1

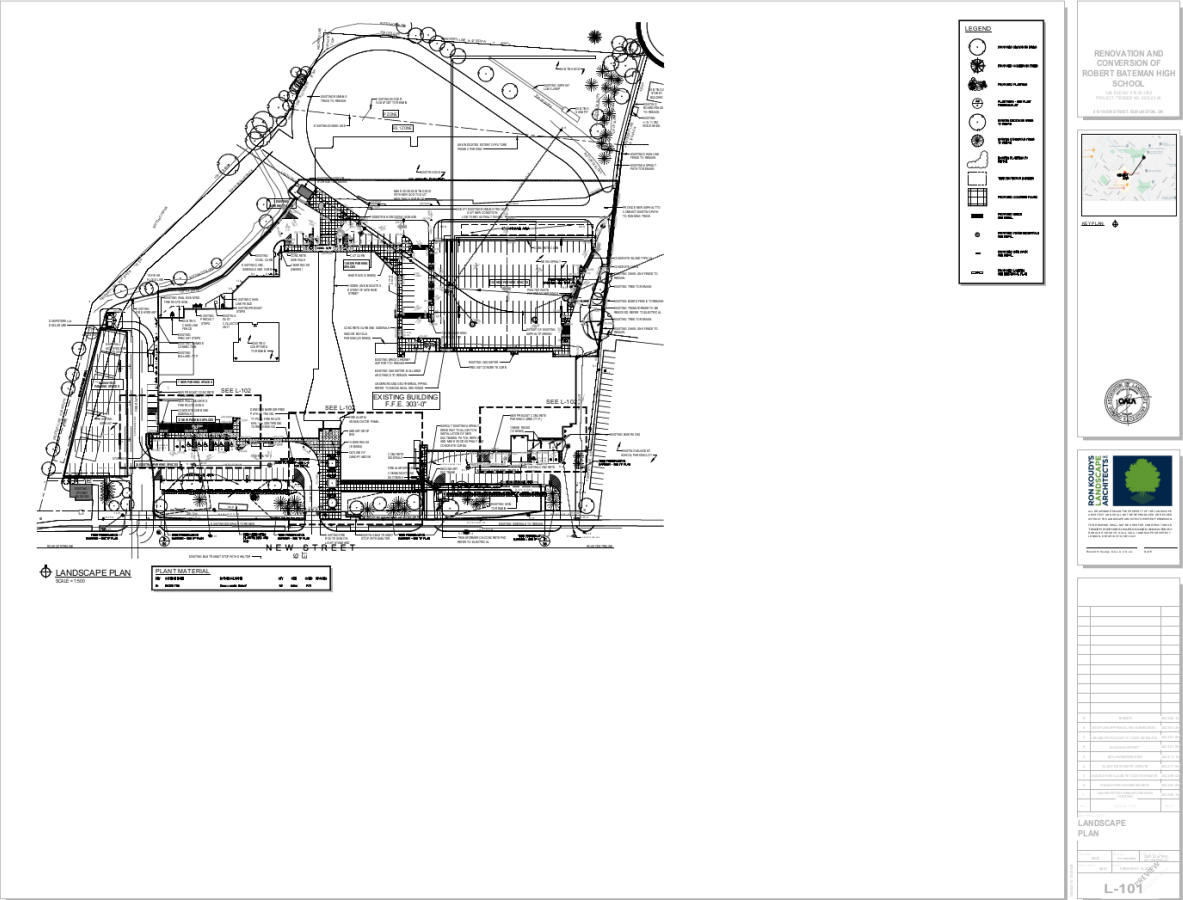

Existing Parking Spots: 235
New spots: 74

Engagement Matters

- Early and Widespread Notification: The City of Burlington will provide early and widespread notification to citizens and stakeholders about proposed developments, policies, initiatives and municipal projects. Widespread notification will not be given for purely localized issues such as neighbourhood traffic calming.

EICS-20-21 December 14, 2021

Engagement Matters:

Preliminary engagement has occurred with key stakeholders and partners. As part of the scope of work outlined in the RFP, a public engagement plan will be developed and delivered in the future as a fundamental component of the environmental, preliminary design, and architectural and engineering services.

EICS -02 -23 March 2,2023

- Engagement Matters:
- A public engagement plan is being developed
- A comprehensive engagement plan that complements a communication plan will be delivered once more of the project timelines and opportunities for authentic engagement are determined
